No Arms to Indonesia

7th December 1975 - Indonesia invades East Timor

TWENTY YEARS LATER INDONESIA IS STILL IN OCCUPATION despite numerous United Nations resolutions calling for it to leave. At least 200,000 East Timorese, a third of the pre-invasion population, have died as a result of the occupation. The people of Indonesia itself fare little better. Protest against injustice is met with arrests, torture and trials.

1975 to 1995 - UK arms Indonesia

The UK is a major supplier of military equipment to Indonesia. Recent deals include 24 British Aerospace Hawk fighter/trainer planes and over 50 Alvis Scorpion light tanks. Such sales give international respectability to the Indonesian government and demoralise those struggling for human rights.

7th December 1995 - Join the Lobby for an arms embargo

Campaign Against Arms Trade, on behalf of the "Stop the Hawks - No Arms to Indonesia" coalition, is organising a Lobby of Parliament on Thursday 7th December calling for a total embargo on the sale of military equipment to Indonesia. Join it!
